

COALITION OF SCHOOLS EDUCATING BOYS OF COLOR

Search for preK–6th grade Schools Demonstrating Success in Educating Boys and Young Men of Color: $10,000 Awards

COSEBOC is pleased to announce the fourth annual COSEBOC School Awards, intended to celebrate preK–6th grade schools that are demonstrating success in educating boys and young men of color. COSEBOC Award-winning schools will receive a $10,000 grant and their promising practices will be featured at our next Gathering of Leaders April 2015 in Memphis, Tennessee.

Guidelines and Application Forms

Available Monday, January 19 at <http://www.coseboc.org/school-award.htm>

Criteria

Schools with at least 25% male student populations of color (African-American, Asian-American, Hispanic, Native American, Multi-racial).

COSEBOC welcomes applications from a wide range of schools – public, private, charter; coed and single gender.

To Apply

Interested schools must review the guidelines, complete the forms and application, and submit them to SchoolAwards@coseboc.org by February 23, 2015.

COSEBOC will host a technical assistance conference call at 1 p.m. EST on Wednesday, January 28, 2015 for schools interested in applying.

Thank you for helping to spread the message that our boys and young men can achieve and succeed by forwarding this message to any school, educator, community leader or policy-maker who might be interested in the COSEBOC School Awards.

The 2015 COSEBOC School Awards are supported by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation.

The mission of the Coalition of Schools Educating Boys of Color is to connect, inspire, strengthen and support school leaders dedicated to the social, emotional and academic development of boys and young men of color.
